

NCLS Registration Procedure for 2010 Fall Term

Tuition for the 2010-2011 School Year

Considering the current economy conditions, the board has decided to keep the tuition of the 2010-2011 school year the same level as last school year, even with a 28% increase for the school rental.

Cost per semester: first class only: $150; second class only: $130; both classes: $250.

This price applies to both children and adult classes.

Cost for senior classes per semester: $50.

The cost for textbooks is NOT included within the tuitions.

School Calendar of 2010-2011

1. "Moving Up" Period

12:00 AM of May 9, 2010 -11:59 PM of May 16, 2010

During this period, the registration only opens to current in-school students.

(1) Leveled Classes (Chinese and Math)

All current in-school students can only register into the "moving up" classes for all of the Chinese classes and Math classes. For example, if you are currently in 1st grade class A, you can only register 2nd grade class A (neither other grade nor 2nd grade class B or C or D). If you are currently in Math 4, you can only register Math 5 (not other Math classes).

(2) Non Leveled Classes (all other classes except Chinese and Math)

The current students can register non-leveled classes during the "moving up" period, but only to the current classes they are taking this semester.

Our registration system will not allow you to register for classes other than the moving up one for the leveled classes or your current class for non-leveled classes and the school will guarantee your seat in the class for you during this period. All new classes, such K-grade classes will be closed for the registration during this period.

Here are moving-up details:

All Chinese classes are moving up accordingly;

All math classes are moving up accordingly;

Wang Laoshi K-grade: 学前班 甲班-2 Language (K Grade -A2) moves up to 学前班 甲班 Language, K Grade - A

All other classes only open to current in-class students.

During the move up period, all ballroom dance classes will keep the same level as the current level. The current advanced class is scheduled to graduate by the end of 2010 fall semester (by the end of January 2011).

Book Order:

The textbook for Chinese classes will not be covered in the tuition. If you need to order the textbook, you need to select the textbook order when you register the Chinese class. If you do not order your textbook when you register for your class, the school will not guarantee to have your textbook ready when the fall class starts. Textbooks are $10 (including the homework books) and the Maliping Textbooks are $60.

2. “Change Class” Period

12:00 AM of May 17, 2009 -11:59 PM of May 30, 2009

During this period, the registration is still only opens to current in-school students and all classes will open for registration and no seat will be held in any class. All new classes will also open for registration on “first come first serve” basis. All students can change their classes if the class you want to change to has vacancies available. For example, if you are currently in 1st grade class A and you can change to 1st grade class B or C or D, you can do so during this period. During this period, all new classes will open to in-school students only.

Due to all math classes have been redesigned with the same text book system and there are no overlaps between different levels. We are encouraging parents to consult with the current math class teacher to discuss which level you kid does better fit into. Please read the detail information for all level Math classes, before you decide which level you kid will take in the new semester. Please read attached “NCLS Math Program Syllabus”.
